Greg and Rebecca – Do you know if Jeff has signed the determination for P-18-0212? Or, if Tala has comments/questions on it? I routed it for signature on Tuesday. See note from the submitter, below.

Thanks,
Meg

Meg,

I think this is one of your cases. Do you think that we can meet the company's expedited timeline?

Hello Greg,

We have another PMN case (P18-0212) that is scheduled for review by the Office Director in the next couple of weeks. The end of review date has been suspended until December 3, 2018. A batch of this product was manufactured in Europe for import into the U.S. The manufacture of this batch was scheduled based on a Customer Order and an original end-of-review date of September 12, 2018. This product has a six month shelf life and will no longer be viable if we cannot ship to the customer by mid December. Can the review and approval by the Office Director be given a high priority. Further delay will result in wasting the entire batch with associated loss of production costs and disposal costs.

Regards,
Dan

Dan,

We are getting closer to completing this case. Your case has been scheduled to be presented by Matt at the new Office Director Decision Meeting next week. Hopefully, we can quickly get a decision on the regulatory path forward at that meeting and then Matt can write up the necessary determination document for signature by the Office Director.

Hello Greg,

P17-0393 is currently pending the Office Directors final approval of a "Not Likely to Present a Risk" determination. Allnex has numerous customer orders pending this approval. Can the final approval be expedited as this PMN was submitted over a year ago?

Regards,
Dan
